Bike Sharing

Today, bike-sharing services are becoming popular in many cities. With these services, people can rent a bicycle at one place and return it at another. Some people ride these bicycles to work, and by doing so, they can avoid crowded trains. However, riders need to follow traffic rules carefully.

A

B

