Station Pianos

These days, some stations have pianos that anyone can play for free. People play them while they are waiting for their trains. Some pianists share their music at stations, and by doing so, they make busy travelers happy. However, players should be careful not to play too loudly.

A

B

